SPANISH ARBITRATION DAY in BEIJING (virtual): EAST AND WEST

Date: 22 September 2020 at 14:00 (Madrid, local time) at 20:00 (Beijing, local time)

Venue: Virtual

Highlights: On the occasion of the China Arbitration Summit a SPANISH ARBITRATION DAY (virtual): EAST AND WEST, organized by J. Félix de Luis, will take place by Zoom on 22 September, featuring a Webminar on arbitration in Spain.

The event will feature a Webminar on arbitration, analyzing the relationship between these two parts of the world, East and West, and the hypothetical consequences on their relationships after the pandemic situation, due to Covid-19, that the world is suffering.

Spain is viewed by foreign companies, mostly European and increasingly also Asian companies, as a springboard for doing business in Latin America, and vice versa, for Latin American companies to get into European markets through Spain.

In short, Spain can play a triangle role in the field of international arbitration between Latin American and European countries, on the one hand, and between Latin America and Asia, on the other. For everything related to Latin America, Spain is a dispute resolution centre of the very first order. Spain could be a "natural forum" for international arbitration for those parts of the world.
