

Rafael Vergara

Rafael Vergara is a partner of Carey and co-head of the firm's Natural Resources and Environment Group. His practice focuses on natural resources, mining, water rights, energy, environment, surface lands, project financing, and corporate and commercial law.

Mr. Vergara is arbitrator of the Arbitration and Mediation Center of the Santiago Chamber of Commerce.

He is At-Large council member representative for Latin America at the Inter-Pacific Bar Association and chair of the Advisory Council of the World Association of Mining Lawyers. Mr. Vergara is member of the American Bar Association, the Prospectors & Developers Association of Canada, RIELA and the Chilean Bar Association, of whose board he is former member.

He has been recognized as leading lawyer in Mining, Natural Resources, Environment and Projects by several international publications such as Chambers Latin America, Latin Lawyer, Who's Who Legal, Legal 500, and others.

Mr. Vergara is professor of law at the University of Chile and University of Los Andes, Santiago Chile. Also, he has presented several papers on Chilean mining, energy, natural resources regulations, environment and arbitration at numerous seminars, both in Chile and abroad.